

YOUTH-FOCUSED RURAL HOUSING DEVELOPMENT

Let us help you get started.

TECHNICAL ASSISTANCE FOR CAPACITY BUILDING

Technical Assistance Collaborative (TAC) is offering technical assistance to organizations interested in developing supportive housing for young adults in their rural communities.

Eligible entities can receive training, advice, and individualized support to increase capacity and prepare for housing development.

ELIGIBLE ENTITIES*

Entities serving low- and moderate-income people in rural areas are eligible. Eligible:

- Community Housing Development Organizations (CHDOs)
- Community Development Corporations (CDCs)
- Tribal Communities
- Local Governments
- Rural Housing Development Organizations (RHDOs), which are organizations currently or planning to engage in housing development as part of their mission

*Qualifying rural areas are typically areas with less than 50,000 people.

TOOLS & TRAINING

We provide access to trainings to learn the basic knowledge needed to pursue housing development and understand supportive housing models for youth.

ORGANIZATIONAL ASSESSMENT

Your technical assistance team will assess your organization's readiness to begin housing development for youth and identify areas of growth to increase your capacity.

ACTION PLANNING

We will work alongside your organization to develop an action plan that will ensure you are prepared to begin the necessary steps towards development.
